NEWS

Chemistry researchers receive $750k grant from Defense Threat Reduction Agency
Denver AFCOM chapter sponsors first-of-a-kind data center scholarship

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Jonathan White, Colorado Geological Survey senior engineering geologist, recently received an award for the “Best Paper of the Year” from the Colorado Scientific Society. He received the award for his presentation on the West Salt Creek Landslide. A paper co-authored by Assistant Professor Brian Trewyn (CH), Professor Andy Herring (CBE) and T. Brent Gunnoe (University of Virginia) was chosen for the cover of the prestigious Journal of the American Chemical Society.

EVENTS

JAN 19: Physics colloquium: “Fun with Interdisciplinary Nanoscience,” by Matthew Johnson, University of Oklahoma, 4 p.m., CTLM 102

JAN 20: Faculty & staff screening of “The Hunting Ground,” a documentary about sexual assault and rape culture on American college campuses, 3:30 p.m., Ballrooms D & E

JAN 20: WE2ST Speaker: The Road to Sustainability: Regulations in a Difficult Oil and Gas Economy by former Colorado Governor Bill Ritter, 4 p.m., Green Center, Petroleum Hall

JAN 22: AMS Colloquium: “Optimal low-rank approximations of (goal oriented) Bayesian linear inverse problems,” by Alessio Spantini, MIT, 3 p.m., Chauvenet 143

See more events on the inside.mines calendar.

Connect with Mines: Twitter | Facebook | Instagram | Flickr | YouTube | Pinterest | LinkedIn

Have a story idea? Send it to us.